

A MAD DOG RUNS AMUCK.

It bites 27 Dogs and a Cow and Attacks Two Persons Before It Is Killed.

HAVERHILL, N. J., Oct. 31.—A large Newfoundland dog belonging to Dennis O'Leary of Eastwood was killed yesterday, and before it could be killed it bit twenty-seven dogs, and a cow and attacked two persons. Among the dogs bitten were two belonging to Dennis O'Leary, four to Nicholas Tuers, a hunter; one each to John Barker, James Dimmick, Luke Blauvelt and Mrs. J. H. Moore.

Luke Blauvelt came near being bitten. He was sitting in his barn when the mad dog rushed in with bloodhounds, eyes and fangs protruding. Mr. Blauvelt rolled from his seat to the floor to escape the animal, which sprang across his prostrate form and seized his little pet dog, biting it several times and tearing its back. The mad dog then turned on Mr. Blauvelt, who escaped by climbing the ladder to the hay loft.

At Mrs. Moore's a Skye terrier was also badly torn by the mad dog, which then left the premises, but returned from another direction in a short time. Mrs. Moore was then in the yard, and the dog attacked her National. She escaped the first onrush by leaping behind the wire fence, and the dog, which had been in a very noisy attack which had been in a very noisy attack which had been in a very noisy attack.

ASTONISHING BANK ASSETS. No Reason for Postponing Further the Sale of the Madison Square Securities.

The securities belonging to the defunct Madison Square Bank will be sold at auction to-day at 12 o'clock at 111 Broadway.

The receivers asked Chairman Robert Stafford and the other members of the committee of stockholders to meet at the committee's rooms and see whether they thought it advisable to postpone the sale any longer.

When Mr. Stafford saw the assets he threw up his hands in amazement and told the other members of the committee that they would have to accept his resignation.

The committee had a reorganization of the bank in view.

May I Have a Fit Here, Please? Grocer Wessel of Twentieth street and Fourth avenue had a queer customer yesterday morning. A well-dressed woman of middle age walked into his store and addressing the grocer, asked quietly:

"Please, may I have a fit here, sir?" "Yes, if you do not mind," replied Mr. Wessel. "I would like to have a fit in your store," replied the woman, this time in a hurried, excited tone.

"Fit!" exclaimed the grocer. "We don't keep 'em," he said. "You had one in the store a half minute later, however, for his supposed customer fell to the floor in an epileptic convulsion. An ambulance was summoned and the patient removed to Bellevue Hospital.
